

PRESS RELEASE

TIME

APRIL 1, 2002

SUMMARY

- Catholicism: Can the church be saved in the face of priestly pedophilia charges?
- Pakistan: An Australian TIME journalist encounters the unrepentant Taliban
- Society: A surge of reckless drinking behavior has emerged among young women
- Indonesia: TIME investigates terrorist mastermind Hambali
- Photojournalism: Adventurous engagement vs. Cool objectivity

COVER STORY: IS CATHOLICISM IN CRISIS?

As allegations of sex abuse and official cover-up pour in from around the U.S., outraged Roman Catholics are urging their leaders to redeem and reform the faith. Johanna McGeary looks at how the religion may be in urgent need of salvation.

THE WAR: ENCOUNTERING THE TALIBAN

Australian TIME correspondent Michael Ware (due back in Sydney next week) tracks down the unrepentant anti-American forces in Pakistan who vow to keep fighting.

SOCIETY: FEMALE BINGE DRINKING

Since 1993, society has seen a 125% increase in frequent binge drinking amongst college women. Is this a case of girl power gone awry? Jodie Morse examines this critical phenomenon.

INDONESIA: ASIA'S OWN OSAMA

Wanted by the U.S. and four Southeast Asian countries as the terrorist mastermind of the Asian operations of Osama bin Laden's al-Qaeda network, Hambali may be the most dangerous man in the region. Simon Elegant reports.

PHOTOGRAPHY: THE WORLD UP CLOSE

Michael Fitzgerald looks at how cool objectivity has been replaced by adventurous engagement in today's photojournalism.

CONTACT: MICHELLE SHAO

For further information and to arrange local and international interviews,
Phone 02-9925-2558. Our website address is www.timepacific.com