COVER STORY: SOCCER WORLD CUP

On May 31, sports' greatest tournament kicks off in Japan and Korea, watched by hundreds of millions around the world. Bill Saporito takes a look at the contenders, the defenders and the hoopla of the 2002 Soccer World Cup.

TIME's World Cup preview report also includes in-depth profiles of Argentina's Hernan Crespo, Japan's Shinji Ono, French mid-fielder Zinedine Zidane, England's coach Sven-Goran Eriksson and Senegal's hell-raiser Elhadji Diouf.

And Jennie James reports on FIFA's leadership crisis, as general secretary Michel Zen-Ruffinen is accused of mismanagement, financial improprieties and manipulating the FIFA network "to the benefit of third parties and his personal interests."

SEPT 11: HOW THE U.S. MISSED THE CLUES

In mid-2001 the White House suspected that a terrorist attack was coming. But four key mistakes kept the U.S. from knowing what to do. TIME's Michael Elliott presents an inside look at what went wrong and what must be fixed.

Richard Lacayo reports on the battle for Ground Zero: as the World Trade Center cleanup ends, the struggles over what should take its place are just getting started.

AUSTRALIA: THE HIGH COST OF FUN IN THE SUN

Concerns about litigation threaten to cramp Australians' outdoor lifestyle. Elizabeth Feizkah reports that a big damages award for a surfing injury – and a spate of lawsuits over accidents in the great outdoors – have sports and community bodies reining in their activities, and politicians, jurists and insurers calling for legal reform.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

CINEMA: Richard Corliss thinks Crush demonstrates why romantic comedy is a gal named Andie MacDowell.

STYLE: London's Victoria and Albert Museum went to the Milan Furniture Fair and snagged the best of the show. Lauren Goldstein reports.
